Sudbury Rainbow Crime Stoppers is partnering with DataDot Canada to bring a new theft prevention technology to our area.

Sudbury Rainbow Crime Stoppers and DataDot Technology Canada will be holding a free information session on March 19 at 7 p.m. at the Howard Johnson Plaza Hotel located at 50 Brady Street.

DataDot Technology Canada develops and implements DataDot technologies to create security and authentication for home, business and industry valuables in new and innovative ways. From individuals to law enforcement agencies, from small businesses to the largest industries, the identification and recovery of lost or stolen items has a positive impact that benefits everyone.

DataDot Technology Canada provides corporations, retailers and individuals with a cost-effective product that can assist in protecting property from theft and in returning stolen items to the owner. The DataDot Microdot identification system is proven worldwide to reduce theft by over 90 per cent and to increase arrest and prosecution success rates, according to a release.

Currently, DataDot Technology is recognized internationally in more than 30 countries. To register for this free information session, phone 675-9171, ext. 5692 or e-mail sudburycrimestoppers@vianet.ca.
